SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Don't be Sorrowful, Darling. Ah, don't be sorrowful, darling, And don't be sorrowful, pray; Taking the year together, my dear There isn't more night than day.

'Tis rainy weather, my darling:
Time's waves they heavily run,
But, taking the year together, my dear,
There isn't more cloud than sun.

We are old folks now, my darling. Our heads are growing gray; But taking the year all around, my dear, You will always find a May.

We have had our May, my darling, And our roses, long ago; And the time of the year is coming For the allent night of snow.

And God is God, my darling, Of night as well as day;
And we feel and know that we can go
Wherever He leads the way.

Aye! God of the night, my darling.

Of the night of Death, so grim:
The gate that leads out of life, god wife,
Is the gate that leads to Him.

MAPLE SUGAR SEASON.

One of Remunerative Crops of Wonderful County of Highland.

Wonderful County of Highland.

(Special to The Times-Diapatch.)

MONTEREY, VA., March 20.—The sugar-making season has come around again, and, while the weather is not such as to make the business profitable, it is nevertheless a busy time with those who have camps and shave made preparation to work them. The orders for sap-palls have been unusually large, and the local merchants and the modern facilities, farmers are unable to turn off much more syrup and sugar in a given time than with the camp paraphernalia of their forefathers.

The adoption of these modern devices, such as evaporators, palis and metal spiles, not only lessens the labor and improves the product, but shows a grow-only interest in this unique industry, peculiar to the mountains of Virginia.

improves the product, but shows a growing interest in this unique industry, peculiar to the mountains of Virginia.

However, your correspondent feels a measure of trapidation in lacing any degree of emphasis upon this growing and remunerative industry of Highland, lest some muliot-headed newspaper man jump at the conclusion that "home-made sugar" is the only "sweetnin". Known in Highland, and publish to the world his overwhelming concern and pity for these "backwoods" folks, thus deprived of the redned and granulated article of "tony" civilization.

Whereas, the truth is, white every Highland sugar camp, at this season of the year, is the secane of hurry and bustie from dawn till bed-time, there is not one instance in fifty where the sugar-product of the camp is looked upon as an article of household utility, or find a place on the list of culinary supplies in the homes where produced.

Of late years the product has found a ready exchange, pound for pound, for such quantities of granulated sugar as he may need, the remainder of the output being placed on the market for shipunent.

This is not true as to the maple sugar, however, its deliciousness being recognized no less at home than abroad, and "home-made molasses" is one of the many good things always found on the frener's bill of fare.

Those who are familiar with the business and have made a study of requisite weather conditions, are hopeful of a searon of greater duration than that of last spring.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
WILMINGTON, Didl., March 21.—
Found guilty of gambling, fraud and light imprudence and unministerial conduct, the Rev. Dr. Charles S. Baker, a former presiding elder, yesterday afternoon was deposed from the ministry by Wilmington Methodist Episcopal Conference.

Wilmington Mothodist Episcopal Conference.

The charges were based upon his selling oil and mining stocks to friends and members of his congregation, some of the stocks proving almost worthicss.

The finding of the "select number," a committee of fifteen ministers that tried him, came as a surprise to all. No one was more astonished than the counsel for the prosecution, for prosecution and defense had entered into an agreement whereby Dr. Baker was not to receive a heavier sentence than the Rev. Dr. Wilbur F. Corkran, who on Saturday was suspended for one year on charges of gambling and high imprudence and unministerial conduct.

The condition of Dr. Baker was pittful. For a few moments after the finding had been read he retained his composure, but later he almost collapsed, and staggered from the church into the heavy downpour of rain.

A few of his sympathizers grasped him by the hand and differed words of encouragement, but they were almost unheeded.

"I have nothing to say, absolutely nothing," were the words of the conveted ministor.
